1 Jesus Christ, our blessed Savior, Turned away
2 As his pledge of love unyielding, He, this pre-3 Jesus here himself is sharing; Take heed how 4 Useless would be Jesus’ passion If salvation

5 Christ says, “Come, all you that labor,
6 Then hold fast with faith unshaken

God’s wrath forever; By his bitter grief and woe icioius food supplying, Gives his body with the bread you are preparing, For if you do not believe, tion you could fashion. Do not come if you suppose

He saved us from the evil foe.
And with the wine the blood he shed.
Judgment instead you shall receive.
You need not him who died and rose.

7 Praise the Father, who from heaven
8 If your heart this truth professes

Text: John Hus, c. 1369-1415; German version, Martin Luther, 1483-1546, abr.; tr. composite Tune: Klug, Geistliche Lieder auffs new gebessert, Wittenberg, 1535, alt.